

No. 214 Squadron website

Privacy / Data Notice

All the information on this website has been provided by Squadron members, their relatives, the 214 Squadron ORB, historical researchers or obtained from the relevant applicable websites e.g CWGC, London Gazette, and RAF historical repositories or International equivalents. We regularly use W R Chorley's set of books, "Royal Air Force Bomber Command Losses of the Second World War" and Oliver Clutton-Brock's book "Footprints on the sands of time – RAF Bomber Command Prisoners of War in Germany 1939 to 1945".

We ALWAYS acknowledge the source of any information on the website.

- All the data that we collect for the website is stored on a database and is stored securely.
- All the contact details that we receive from you, along with all emails, are stored securely.
- Your contact details are NOT published or shared with third parties without your consent. If someone contacts us asking us to get in touch with you, we will forward their email to you for you to respond directly to them if you wish to do so. We will advise the person who requested contact that this is what we will do.
- You can, at any time, request us to provide what details we have for you, which can then be amended by you, or if requested we can remove them.
- If you change your email could you please let us know, as this is the only way that we can keep in contact with you.

We are committed to ensuring that your information is secure.

To prevent unauthorised access to the website it is protected by an SSL Security Certificate as shown by the https: and/or padlock symbol at the beginning of our website address.

Our website contains links to other websites of interest.

Please note that these websites may not be secure and our security measures are not transferable to other sites.

We do not use cookies on this site.